The Holy Trinity Church of Peace in Świdnica

A wooden architectural wonder

The largest wooden Baroque church in Europe, a historic religious building erected under the agreements of the Treaty of Westphalia signed in 1648, ending the Thirty Years' War. It belongs to the Świdnica parish of the Evangelical-Augsburg Church in Poland. Since 2001, the site has been on the UNESCO World Heritage List.

Inside, 7,500 people can be accommodated (3,000 seats) with 1,090 square metres of space on several levels.

Książ Castle

The breathtaking Książ Castle is often referred to as the "pearl" of Lower Silesia, and not without reason! The largest castle in the region of Silesia is an example of eclecticism in architecture.

Built in the 13th century it was inhabited for hundreds of years by the Hochberg family, one of the richest and most influential families in Prussia.

A beautiful, impressive building located in a picturesque landscape park - this is how you can describe the Książ Castle. The fortified building called Fürstenstein was built in this place over seven hundred years ago and was a very important point on the map of the defense chain of Silesia. Over time, it has served more and more different functions, so that today, after the turbulent war period, it is the cultural centre of the entire area.

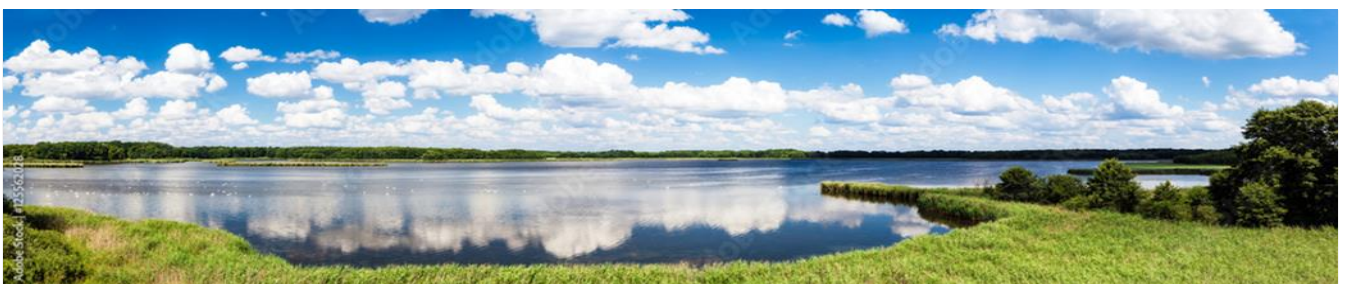

Today, visitors can admire the majesty of numerous chambers, terraces and surrounding gardens.

Szczawno Zdrój

A beautiful spa town, with a pump house and spa park. Szczawno is famous for its therapeutic mineral waters. It is situated in a picturesque area of three parks with unique vegetation, which blooms with magnificent rhododendron flowers in spring. A great asset of the town is also its 19th-century buildings.

have a pleasant journey, full of laughter, joy and wonderful memories
